

Missile Range to honor 14 soldiers here Wednesday

White Sands Missile Range will honor 14 soldiers Wednesday morning during its monthly retirement and awards ceremonies.

Troops representing major military units assigned to the range's U. S. Army Garrison will march in review. The 62nd Army Band from Ft. Bliss will provide the music, and the range commander, Major General E. H. deSaussure, and his staff will form the reviewing party. Adjutant's call will be sounded at 10 a.m.

Retiring from active Army duty after more than 22 years' service will be Chief Warrant Officer Harry T. Settle and Staff Sergeant Walter E. Nelson.

CWO Settle, who has served with the Safeguard System Evaluation Agency, WSMR, since September 1966, will receive the Meritorious Service Medal for outstanding meritorious service.

SSG Nelson, platoon sergeant and training NCO assigned to the 259th Military Police Company, will receive the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious achievement.

Colonel Nelson W. Tobey, now deputy for Army Missile

Test and Evaluation at White Sands Missile Range, will receive the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct in performance of outstanding services. Colonel Tobey is cited for service in the office of the Chief of Research and Development from June 1967 to June 1970, first as chief, Air Defense and Missiles Division, and then as deputy director and director of Missiles and Space.

Lieutenant Colonel Jack I. Hamilton, Army Operations officer assigned to National Range Operations, will receive the Bronze Star Medal and first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army Commendation Medal during Wednesday's ceremony.

Colonel Hamilton earned the Bronze Star for meritorious service in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam from September 1969 to September 1970. He also earned his second Army Commendation Medal in Vietnam.

Master Sergeant Theodore R. Boraca of the Range's Safeguard System Evaluation Agency will receive three medals during the ceremony. He earned the Bronze Star and Army Commendation Medal for outstanding meritorious service in the Republic of Vietnam and the Meritorious Service Medal for duty performed while assigned to the Safeguard System Evaluation Agency, WSMR.

Bronze Star Medals earned in Vietnam for meritorious will also be awarded Staff Sergeant John D. Johnson (first Oak Leaf Cluster), of McAfee Army Hospital; Specialist Four Harry McClure and Specialist Four Daniel R. Pulsipher, both of Headquarters Company. The first Oak Leaf Cluster to Army Commendation Medal will be presented to Staff Sergeant James E. Driver of Company A, Specialist Four Steward D. McKay, Headquarters Company, will receive the Army Commendation Medal with first Oak Leaf Cluster, both earned in Vietnam.

Army Commendation Medals will also be awarded Sergeant First Class William W. Molby, Headquarters Company, and Specialist Four Robert L. Beckner of the 259th MP Company. Both medals are awarded for exceptionally meritorious service in support of military operations in Vietnam.

September's Soldier of the Month, Sergeant Robert T. Hwang of Company A, will be recognized as Soldier of the Quarter.

Chinese-born, Sgt. Hwang is an assistant project engineer for Low Altitude Air Defense Division, Army Missile Test and Evaluation Directorate (ARMT-TE).

A 1969 graduate of Oregon State University with a degree in electrical engineering, Sgt. Hwang and his family came to this country in 1956 and now live in Sacramento, Calif.

Specialist Four Ray L. Marr, Soldier of the Month for October, will also be honored. He is a mathematics assistant for ARMT-TE working in the technical section.

SP4 Marr will be cited for his outstanding leadership abilities, soldierly conduct and above average duty performance. As Soldier of the Month SP4 Marr receives a $25 Savings Bond, a three-day pass, an engraved bronze plaque and several gift certificates from area merchants.

Have you heard?

"Spring FORWARD in the spring, fall BACK in the fall." With Daylight Saving Time coming to a close this Sunday, Oct. 25, it will be time once again to turn your clock back an hour.

Before going to bed Saturday night, make sure to turn your clock back one hour, to conform with the Uniform Time Act of 1966. Officially at 2 a.m. Sunday morning, New Mexico and the El Paso area return to Mountain Standard Time.

Another change for Army personnel: the change to the AG44 winter uniform will become effective Monday, Nov. 2. The AG344 lightweight uniform may be worn on an optional basis.

Congressman Ed Foreman (R-N.M.) of Las Cruces will speak on the "Space Shuttle Program" at a "dutch" cafeteria dinner at 7 p.m. today (Oct. 23) in the East Room of Luby's Cafeteria, Las Cruces.

The meeting is being sponsored by local chapters of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA) and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME). The public is invited. WSMR personnel desiring additional information should call F. Covington, 678-1512.

Specialist Four and Mrs. John P. Honaker announce a new addition to their family—a baby boy. John P. Honaker V, weighing 8 pounds and 4 ounces, was born Sept. 6 at McAfee Army Hospital.

SP4 Honaker, a motion picture photographer, resides with his family at 506 Hawk, WSMR.

White Sands Missile Range officials have announced the appointment of Paul J. Burns as small business and economic utilization advisor.

Mr. Burns, an employee of Logistics Directorate's Purchasing and Contracting Division for six years, is an El Paso resident.

As the range's small business and economic utilization advisor, Mr. Burns will maintain a program to locate small business sources and coordination of inquiries and requests for advice from small firms.

In addition, his office will be responsible for insuring small businesses receive adequate consideration in government contracting at White Sands.

In a recent interview Mr. Burns said of his duties, "The main thing is to see that small

Union voting set Oct. 28 for Class Act employees

White Sands Missile Range Class Act employees assigned to the U. S. Army Test and Evaluation Command will go to the polls Wednesday (Oct. 28) to select between two unions or to vote for neither.

The election, conducted under the supervision of the Labor Management Services Administration, will decide whether exclusive representation for certain Class Act employees will belong to the National Association of Government Employees (NAGE), or the National Federation of Federal Employees (NFFE), or neither. The election will be by secret ballot.

In the event no choice on the ballot receives a majority of votes cast, a runoff election will be held Nov. 18. This election also would be by secret ballot.

On the official ballot, White Sands employees will have the choice of selecting either NAGE, Local R14-41, or NFFE, Local 158, as their representative for the purpose of negotiating an agreement concerning grievances, personnel policies and practices and matters affecting working conditions of employees in the unit. A third choice on the ballot will be "neither," for those employees who prefer not to have any representative.

All U. S. Army Test and Evaluation Command (TECOM) Class Act employees of White Sands Missile Range complex who were employed during the period ending Sept. 12, 1970, are eligible to vote. Excluded are professional employees, management officials, employees engaged in federal personnel work except in a purely clerical capacity, guards, supervisors and employees in units having exclusive recognition.

Mail ballots have been sent to eligible range employees assigned to Albuquerque, El Paso, Utah Launch Complex, Rhodes Canyon, Stallion Range Center and Army Quality Assurance Office, NASA.

Eligible voters on annual leave, leave without pay, sick leave, TDY or off-duty on election day may request an absentee ballot either in person or by mail. Absentee ballots may be obtained from the Civilian Personnel Division, Building 362. Absentee ballots must be received by the Civilian Personnel Division by 4:15 p.m. Oct. 27.

Four voting places have been established at White Sands Missile Range and one at Holloman Air Force Base—the latter for WSMR workers at HAFB and King I Range Control Center.

Post voting booths will be installed in the lobby of the Post Theater in Building 1782A, a skid-mount building located next to the Dispatch Office Building 1838 conference room and the Post Fire Station (Building 155).

At Holloman the voting booth will be in Room 5 of the Communications Building (1108).

The four WSMR booths will be open from 7:45 a.m. until 4:15 p.m. The Holloman booth will be open from 7:45 a.m. until 3 p.m.

All eligible employees are encouraged to exercise their right to vote.

23 receive honors in IA program

Twenty-three White Sands Missile Range employees were honored this week through the Army's Incentive Awards Program.

Receiving Suggestion Awards were William P. Hough, Las Cruces; Shirley A. Chavers, Jose A. Fietze and Tomas E. Trevizo, El Paso.

Outstanding Performance ratings went to Dorothy D. Smith, Las Cruces; Francisco V. Ortiz, June M. Nowell and Armida Alvarez, all of El Paso.

Outstanding Performance and Sustained Superior Performance awards went to Matthew J. Wall and Frank Rico, El Paso; Nancy M. Goodman and Perry McDonald, Las Cruces.

Sustained Superior Performance awards went to Frederick L. Day and Victoriano Favella, El Paso; Victor L. Feldbusch, Alamogordo; Ramon L. Rios, Anthony, and Margarito Frausto, Las Cruces.

Receiving Quality Step Increase awards were Nicolas G. Evaro, La Mesa; Lyle E. Church, El Paso; Tommy G. Romero and Bruce J. Topley, Las Cruces.

Celia V. Dela Pena, El Paso, and Elva G. Lasarin, Anthony, received Special Act awards.

Ft. Bliss will host AOA meet

"Simulated Weapons Firings vs. Actual Firings" will be the main theme of the American Ordnance Association Air Target Section's annual meeting, to be hosted by the U.S. Army Air Defense Center at Ft. Bliss, Nov. 4 and 5.

Sessions and panel discussions, led by representatives from the four military services, will cover many subjects, including the New Concept Development Plan for Air Targets, User Deficiencies and Problems, the Role of Simulation vs. Tactical Firings in Weapons System Evaluations and Crew Evaluations, Progress Reports from Development Agencies, Component and Support Equipment Requirements, and Miss-Distance Indicators.

Several well known industrialists, including W.E. Grago of Teledyne Ryan Aeronautical Company, Dr. W.W. Metz of the Air Force Armament Laboratory, Moody Besancon of Babcock Electronics and Valdemar Sorensen of the Army Air Defense Center, will chair sessions during the meeting.

During the afternoon of Nov. 5, participants will be bused to McGregor Range to witness live firings of guns and guided missiles at various types of air targets.

For further information, registration forms and clearance forms, write AOA/Air Targets Section, 819 Union Trust Building, 740 15th Street N.W., Washington, D.C., phone (202) 347-7250.

20 attend counsels' meet here

Twenty attendees representing 12 Army activities met at White Sands Missile Range Wednesday and Thursday (Oct. 21-22) for a General Counsels' conference.

The meeting was sponsored by the U. S. Army Materiel Command, Washington, D.C.

The program was designed to disseminate the latest information and guidance in various aspects of government patent, contract, procurement and other legal matters of interest to government lawyers.

It was conducted for the benefit of AMC's major subordinate commands and marked the first time that WSMR had hosted a conference of this nature.

Major General E. H. deSaussure, WSMR commanding general, welcomed the group. The seminar-style meeting was opened and moderated by the Honorable Kendall M. Barnes, AMC general counsel.

The group also was addressed by Brigadier General Bruce C. Babbitt, assistant Judge Advocate General for civil law, Department of the Army.

Other commands represented included the Aviation Systems Command, Missile Command, Munitions Command, Electronics Command, Test and Evaluation Command, Mobile Equipment Command, Weapons Command, Ammunition Procurement and Supply Agency, and Tank-Automotive Command.

GEN Chesarek to retire

LTG H. A. Miley Jr. named to head AMC

WASHINGTON—President Richard M. Nixon has nominated Lieutenant General Henry A. Miley Jr. for assignment as commanding general of the U. S. Army Materiel Command (AMC) and for promotion to the four-star rank of full general, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird announced this week.

LTG Miley has been serving as deputy commanding general of AMC. He will succeed General Ferdinand J. Chesarek, commanding general of AMC since March of 1969, who has requested retirement from active duty effective Nov. 1.

Major General Woodrow W. Vaughan, currently serving as deputy chief of staff for logistics with the U. S. Army, Europe (USAEUR), has been named to succeed LTG Miley as deputy commanding general of AMC. Secretary Laird announced that MG Vaughan has been nominated by President Nixon for promotion to lieutenant general.

LTG Miley was born in Boston, Mass., Feb. 14, 1915. He was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., in 1915 and commissioned in the Coast Artillery.

GEN Chesarek, born Feb. 18, 1914, in Calumet, Mich., was graduated from the Military Academy in 1938. He was commissioned in the Field Artillery.

Prior to World War II, LTG Miley served in Hawaii. During the war he served at Ft. Bliss, Tex. in New Guinea, and in the Philippines. Following the war he transferred to the Ordnance Corps and served first in Manila, P. I., and then at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

LTG Miley received his master's degree in business administration from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., in 1949. He also is a graduate of the Command and General Staff College and the Army War College.

From 1950 to 1964, LTG Miley served in the U. S., France and Germany. He served with AMC from 1964 to 1966, first as deputy director and then as director of procurement and production. From 1964 to 1966 he served in the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, Department of the Army, Washington.

He was promoted to lieutenant general and named deputy commanding general of AMC in June of 1969.

GEN Chesarek served as a battalion commander in Europe during World War II, participating in four campaigns and receiving numerous decorations. He received his master's degree in business administration from Stanford University in 1950. He also is a graduate of the Artillery School, the Armed Forces Staff College, the National War College and the Advanced Management Program of Harvard University.

During the Korean Conflict, GEN Chesarek served with Eighth U. S. Army Headquarters and then as commanding officer Starkweather, of WSMR National Range Operations Directorate; and Colonel Leonard R. Sugerman, USAF, WSMR deputy for Air Force.

Mr. Griggs also announced that the 1969-70 president of the Rio Grande Post, retired Army Lieutenant Colonel Fred J. Frank of Las Cruces, has accepted the chairmanship of the board of directors. Other officers were to be elected at a meeting of the board scheduled Thursday evening, Oct. 22, at the WSMR Officers' Open Mess.

The Rio Grande Post of the AOA is composed of members residing in the El Paso, Las Cruces and Alamogordo areas.

'Mark of a Man' Navy Day to be noted Oct. 27

by JO3 Tom Merryman
"U.S. Navy - Mark of a Man" is the theme selected for use in conjunction with the 1970 Navy Day observances. The U. S. Naval Ordnance Missile Test Facility at White Sands Missile Range will be among the thousands of Navy units throughout the world that celebrate Tuesday, October 27, as Navy Day.

October 27th is recognized as Navy Day by all Navy units, whether shore installation, giant attack carrier or small tugboat. This particular date was chosen 49 years ago by Theodore Roosevelt Jr., the son of President Theodore Roosevelt, during his tenure as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. This date was chosen in response to an appeal for a nationwide celebration of a Navy Day.

NAGE local plans meetings for next week

Two general membership meetings of Local R14-41 of the National Association of Government Employees (NAGE) will be held next week, Vice President Reynaldo (Archie) Archuleta announced.

The first meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 26, at the Holiday Inn on White Sands Blvd. in Alamogordo. The second meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 27, in the First National Bank Building, corner of Main and Lohman, in Las Cruces.

Bill Monroe, president of Local R14-41, will preside at both meetings. Also attending both meetings will be two national representatives from Boston, Mass., Al Tedesco and Tony Caseo. They will be guest speakers at the meetings.

While October 27th is the birthday of the senior Roosevelt, it also has historic significance: The Continental Congress on that day in 1775 considered a bill for the construction for the first ships of the U.S. Navy.

It is also appropriate that President Theodore Roosevelt's birthday be designated as Navy Day. A firm believer in the need for a strong Navy, he fought hard to make it powerful while he was President. He sent the "Great White Fleet" around the world mainly as a diplomatic maneuver, but it also helped him get new funds and support for the Navy.

"Speak softly, but carry a big stick," the President said. Historians interpret his utilization of the Navy as his "Big Stick."

Called the "Father of the Modern American Navy" for the results he obtained, he was later honored by both the Navy and Congress when his birthday was selected as "Navy Day."

MRS. EDDY RECEIVES COIN - Mrs. George G. Eddy of Carlsbad, N. M., widow of the third commander of White Sands Proving Ground (now WSMR), receives a WSMR 25th anniversary commemorative coin medal from F. T. Starkweather, El Paso, employe of WSMR National Range Operations Directorate. Brigadier General Eddy, who died in Carlsbad in January 1969, served as commanding general of WSPG from February 1950 to June 1954. He retired at the end of his White Sands tour, after 36 years of U. S. Army service, and resided first in California and then in Carlsbad. The presentation of the medal to Mrs. Eddy was made in Carlsbad during a visit by Mr. Starkweather. CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

The following article is taken from "3 Minutes a Day," by James Keller:

CHILD TAKES LONG WAY HOME
 A 9-year-old boy who became separated from his mother in a department store in suburban Detroit decided the only alternative was to walk home by himself.

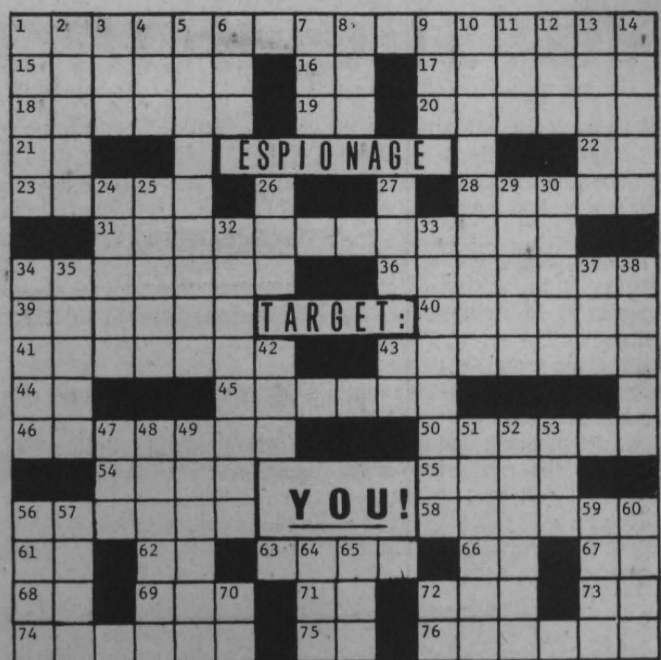

Police found him early the following day on the other side of the city. He had walked 25 miles in the wrong direction. "My feet hurt and I want to go home," he told the officers. They took him home.

No matter how much they may wander or stray, it is most important to keep alive in young people their natural instinct to "want to go home."

Do everything you can to make the family circle inviting to youth. The home is the first and most important school or training center, instituted by God Himself, where boys and girls are prepared to play a worthwhile role on the stage of life.

Every effort should be made, therefore, to keep the home the attractive center to which young and old alike long to return.

"But if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?" - I Timothy 3:5. Thanks, O heavenly Father, for the blessings of a happy home.

General Chesarek writes --

Farewell message

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
 HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES ARMY
 MATERIEL COMMAND
 WASHINGTON, D.C. 20315

7 October 1970

TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE AMC TEAM:

Due to urgent personal reasons, I have submitted a request for retirement effective 1 November 1970.

I have done this with deep regret, as we are now engaged in work vital to the future success of our beloved Army. However, after more than 32 years of neglect of my parents and family, I feel compelled to provide them with my attention and effort at a time when they need it the most.

The work we have undertaken together will, of course, go forward. It was only made possible by your devoted and inspired effort. Key to it all is teamwork. Only by pulling together for common objectives could we have done the job with the resources provided.

Your accomplishments these past years have been impressive. Continued support of the war effort has demonstrated in full measure the traits that make the organization great: dedication, professional planning, and follow through.

During this difficult period of financial retrenchment, we have developed innovations of substance which permit us to do better with less. Here again, the same support has come forth as was provided during the buildup period.

No greater honor was ever accorded me than to have the privilege of commanding the Army Materiel Command as my last active duty assignment. God bless you.

'Jes' Plain Will'

On November 4, Oklahomans celebrate the birthday of the man that many people consider America's greatest humorist: William Penn Adair Rogers, or, as he would have preferred it, "Jes' plain Will."

Had he lived, the part-Cherokee Indian would have been 91 years old.

During the 1920s and early 1930s, both on stage and in his books and newspaper columns, Will Rogers made social criticism a fine art. He was so adept at it that no one since has been able to match his consummate skill at its practice.

What made Rogers so generally accepted and loved by both the general public and the people at whom his barbs were aimed was the congenial good humor in which they were sheathed. Although one might hesitate to say that his observations definitely changed the policies of the "establishment" of that time, it is reasonable to assert that the people who headed our nation when Rogers was alive certainly took his home-spun remarks and homilies into consideration, on occasion, to gain a better insight into the problems - and there were many - then confronting the nation.

Rogers' comments left an indelible direction sign on America's path of progress. He was, admittedly, a political activist - and an eminently successful one. But the changes he so subtly wrought were accomplished, not by carrying picket signs, nor shouting down his opponents with obscenities, nor dressing himself in outlandish garb, nor sniping with rifles, nor throwing brickbats, nor bombing and burning buildings, but, rather, by making people laugh at themselves and their problems, and then encouraging them to set the matter straight, in a peaceful, forthright manner. Rogers did not believe that it was necessary to destroy America to make it better; rather, he felt that America could be improved by closely examining its people and institutions, and then keeping what was best and improving what was not desirable. Above all, he knew that it is impossible to be angry and laugh at the same time.

Even after he had become internationally famous and had amassed a fortune, Rogers still retained his common touch, saying, "Shucks, I was just an old cowhand that had a bit of luck."

Will Rogers' lariat has lain still for more than 35 years. Perhaps we need someone who can learn how to twirl it. . . . (AFPS Editorial)

CHAPEL NEWS

The Chapel will sponsor a Christmas music festival. This will be a non-denominational choral group. The group will be under the direction of LeRoy Elmore, student at New Mexico State University.

The purpose of this program is to help make Christmas more meaningful and to increase the cultural opportunities on this post. It is possible that this could be a continuing organization, or a men's choral group could be formed.

The only requirement we have is that the person enjoys singing and plans to attend rehearsals regularly.

Plans are also under way to form junior and cherub choirs. Here is an opportunity for parents who are interested in their children receiving some musical experience in choral singing. Opportunities will be provided for them to perform on a regular basis.

Anyone interested in singing in any one of these groups may call the Chapel, where rehearsals will be held. The adult group is presently meeting on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. CATHOLIC

All Souls Day, 2 November 1970 - Mass will be said at 9:00 a.m., 11:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Sunday Masses 8:00 and 10:00 a.m.

SATURDAY
SLEEPING BEAUTY (G) - Walt Disney's feature length animated cartoon "Sleeping Beauty" returns to the screen with all the spectacular enchantment of the world's most magical legend.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY
EL CONDOR (R) - "El Condor" is the story of an attempt by two men and a bedraggled band of Apaches to find and conquer an impregnable fortress containing a fortune in gold. Jim Brown and Lee Van Cleef play the two adventurers who vow to break through the fortress walls or die trying.

TUESDAY
THE MIND OF MR. SOAMES (GP) - "The Mind of Mr. Soames" is the offbeat drama of a man, in a coma since birth, who is awakened by a breakthrough brain operation, to emerge with the brain of a baby and the body and desires of an adult male.

WEDNESDAY
STILETTO (R) - Drama, underworld intrigue, adventure and the swinging scene of jet-setters combine to fashion zzzing, fast-moving entertainment. Alex Cord portrays Count Cesare Cardini, a suave, successful dealer in foreign cars, with underworld connections. The beautiful Britt Ekland portrays his mistress, who loves both the man and the dashing style he provides for her. The propelling force of the film is a study in the intricacies of human greed.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
HELLO, DOLLY (G) - Delightful family fare for this adaptation of Jerry Herman's Broadway hit. Barbra Streisand stars as a conniving matchmaker who has her eyes on the wealthy and crusty Walter Matthau. The picture's high point comes when Dolly returns to the Harmonia Gardens restaurant after her period of mourning for her deceased husband, Ephraim, and is welcomed back by her favorite waiters in the musical's title song.

POSTHUMOUS AWARDS - Mr. and Mrs. F. J. DeMarco of Las Cruces accept medals earned by their son in Southeast Asia before his death, Sgt. Billy J. Posthumous awards presented at Range

by Ed White
The parents of a Las Cruces soldier who was killed in Cambodia have received medals earned by their son in Southeast Asia before his death. The awards were presented last week during ceremonies at White Sands Missile Range.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. DeMarco, 164 W. Willoughby, Las Cruces, received the medals from Major General E. H. deSaussure, commanding general of the range.

Sergeant Billy J. DeMarco, 23, was killed June 6, 1970, in Cambodia while serving with the 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile). He was on his third tour of duty in Southeast Asia.

During the Missile Range ceremony the Bronze Star Medal with first oak leaf cluster, Air Medal, Army Commendation Medal with "V" device (first oak leaf cluster), and Purple Heart Medal (second oak leaf cluster) were presented.

Sgt. DeMarco won the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device (for valor) April 22 for heroism in connection with ground operations against a hostile force. He later earned the first oak leaf cluster to the Bronze Star for meritorious service.

Sgt. DeMarco earned the Air Medal during more than 25 aerial missions over hostile territory in support of counter-insurgency operations. The first oak leaf cluster to the Army Commendation Medal was earned during sustained combat operations against a hostile enemy force from June 4 to June 6, 1970. He was killed June 6 when a booby trap detonated.

Before his death, Sgt. De-

Marco had received the Bronze Star, Army Commendation, Purple Heart with oak leaf cluster, Good Conduct, National Defense Service, Vietnam Service and Vietnam Campaign medals. In addition he held the Combat Infantryman Badge.

A 1965 graduate of Las Cruces High School, Sgt. DeMarco was employed by Whitfield Bus Lines before entering the Army and was active with the Las Cruces Boys Club.

E-6 promotion won't require MOS vacancy

WASHINGTON (ANF) - The Army has announced it will eliminate the position vacancy requirement for promotion to grade E-6.

The move is designed to increase promotion opportunities for the best qualified E-5's, Army-wide, and inequities. Formerly, highly qualified individuals could not be promoted to grade E-6 unless a local vacancy existed in their military occupational specialty (MOS).

The announcement, in a DA Message, stated that the new policy would be effective Nov. 1. However, since November quotas will still be allocated by DA based on local vacancies, the MOS vacancy will be a requirement for promotion in November.

But by Jan. 1, 1971, the position vacancy requirement will have been completely eliminated. At that time DA will allocate E-6 promotion quotas Army-wide by three-digit MOS.

The quotas will be based on Army-wide need for E-6's in three-digit MOS categories, the number of E-5's with local recommended list status, and the qualitative standing of E-5's as determined by total point scores on the standardized promotion scoring form.

A form of centralized promotion competition is expected to result from the new system, according to the DA Message. Not only will eligible E-5's compete for promotion on a world-wide basis, but quotas will be applied proportionate to their qualitative standing Army-wide.

Procedures commanders should follow to implement the new system are outlined in DA Message No. 970653, dated Oct. 7, 1970.

JOAN HOWARD

Joan Howard wins high rank in bridge play

Mrs. Joan Howard, wife of Navy Captain George D. Howard, commanding officer of the U.S. Naval Ordnance Missile Test Facility at WSMR, attained the rank of Life Master at the regional tournament of the American Contract Bridge League held recently in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Howard, who has been playing duplicate bridge for six years, placed in the Swiss Team, Women's, Master's and Mixed Pairs. A player is acknowledged by the ACBL as a Life Master upon earning 300 master points, including 50 points in a regional or higher rank tournament.

Mrs. Howard is a member of the Las Cruces ACBL Unit and a bridge student of Stephen J. Lawrence of WSMR.

CPT and Mrs. Howard, who have been at WSMR for three and a half years, will be at Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., after Nov. 20.

Information given on Reserve duties

Persons leaving the Armed Forces during the next six months should make certain to get the latest information on further Reserve obligations from a supplement to the pamphlet, "Once a Veteran."

In six months or less, a new edition of the Department of Defense pamphlet will be issued to servicemen and women processing through separation centers. It will contain the latest information on Reserve obligations as well as other veterans programs.

In the meantime, copies of an outdated version may still be handed out to separating Service personnel. Members who receive the pamphlet, "Once a Veteran," DoD PA-5A, should be sure to also receive a correction sheet on Reserve obligations which has been prepared to update the pamphlet. Service numbers for the pamphlet are: DA Pam 360-526, NAVPERS 15855-F, AFP 211-11, NAVMC 2537 (Rev/1967), and CG-143.

Generally, Reserve obligations will be as outlined below:

At the time of initial enlistment or induction into the Armed Forces, most persons incurred a military service obligation of six years.

They may fulfill the obligation through a combination of active duty and service in the Ready Reserve and Standby Reserve.

So, unless an active duty tour of six or more years has been served, some portion of the obligation will be outstanding upon return to civilian life.

The outstanding portion may be met by serving in a Reserve component. The components include the Army Reserve, Naval Reserve, Air Force Reserve, Marine Corps Reserve, Coast Guard Reserve, Army National Guard and Air National Guard.

With the exception of the National Guard, these Reserve components have two categories of members:

- * Ready Reservists, subject to active duty in time of war or national emergency proclaimed by the President or declared by the Congress or when otherwise authorized by law. In exchange for this availability, Ready Reservists are assigned to organizations and take part in regular training programs for which they are paid. All members of the National Guard are in units of the Ready Reserve.
- * Standby Reservists, subject to active duty only when war or national emergency is declared by the Congress or when otherwise authorized by law. Except for such no further active duty or active duty training.

In turn, the Ready Reserve is organized into two sub-categories:

- * The Selected Reserve, consisting of members of the National Guard and Reserve components organized into units and who have volunteered for such service. They are required to take part in periodic training drills and an annual active duty training period.
- Although the law provides for the involuntary assignment to the Selected Reserve of prior servicemen with a remaining Reserve obligation, Department of Defense policy provides that individuals who (1) have served on active duty for two years or (2) have served on active duty in a combat zone or (3)

LEAVE AWARD - Rodolfo Pinon Jr., of El Paso, employed in the Test Department of the WSMR U.S. Naval Ordnance Missile Test Facility, has been awarded a sick leave accumulation certificate in a ceremony at Navy Headquarters. He has accumulated 1,250 hours of unused sick leave during 16 years of government service. (Navy photo)

Chopper crew helps to recover payload

by CLIR
In response to a summons from the USAF Balloon Branch at Holloman AFB, pilots from the WSMR Army Air Operations Directorate assisted in the recovery of an instrument package Saturday, Oct. 10.

The package had impacted on a ridge just northeast of the NMSU Extension in Alamogordo.

An Army CH-34A helicopter, piloted by Major Clyde Motes and co-piloted by Chief Warrant Officer Dorsey Wingo, reported on the scene with their crew chief, Specialist Five Michael Dorseth, and two Air Force sergeants from the Balloon Branch.

The instrument package, used in a test for the USAF's Cambridge Research Laboratories, had been swept off-range by unexpected winds shortly after release from its balloon early Saturday afternoon. It came to rest on top of a steep ridge.

Finding the package too heavy to be lifted from the ridge, Major Motes and his crew worked with contractor personnel in the strenuous task of disassembling the 1,400-pound package. As the components were removed and shuffled to the helicopter, the chopper crew flew them to the university parking lot. There, Recovery Branch crews loaded the equipment on trucks and hauled it back to the assembly site.

The final sortie was completed as darkness fell over the Tularosa Basin. "Who won the Texas - Oklahoma game?" the fired but happy crew asked as it deplaned back at the Holloman operations area.

SIGNS FOR FOUR MORE - Engineman First Class Nathaniel Ross, assigned with the U.S. Naval Ordnance Missile Test Facility at WSMR, is shown in Navy Headquarters following his reenlistment for a new four-year tour of duty. He has been at WSMR since last May. Officiating at the reenlistment was Commander Blair Ireland, acting commanding officer of NOMTF. (Navy photo)

GOES FOR SIX MORE - Fire Control Technician Third Class Robert W. Graf, assigned with the U.S. Naval Ordnance Missile Test Facility at WSMR, recently reenlisted for a new six-year hitch under the Navy's Star Program. FTM3 Graf, who has completed two years of service, came to WSMR last April. He resides with his wife at 302 Ravenna. (Navy photo)

POINT SYSTEM DUCK VALUES

New Mexico duck hunters will be allowed a 100-point daily bag limit during the Central Flyway Season, Oct. 24, 1970 - Jan. 17, 1971.

Shooting hours, Sunrise to Sunset. Possession limit is the maximum number which could be taken in two days.

ALL OTHER DUCKS COUNT

The daily bag limit is reached when the point value of the last bird taken during the day and added to the sum of the point value of the ducks already taken that day reaches or exceeds 100 points. For example, a hunter who has taken nine 10-point ducks would have 90 points and one more duck of any value would fill his daily limit. Another hunter with one 90-point duck in the bag who then takes one more bird of any species has killed his limit for the day.

Point system bag limit --

86-day duck season will open Saturday

SANTA FE, N.M. — Hunters who are capable of identifying ducks in flight will have an opportunity to take more ducks than at any time since 1958 when this year's season opens Saturday in the Central Flyway portion of New Mexico.

Hunters who can identify ducks get the bonus because this year, for the first time, the point system bag limit will be used for the entire season. A shorter experimental point system season was held in the flyway last year.

The 86-day season will be open Oct. 24, 1970, through Jan.

17, 1971, with a daily bag limit of 100 points and a possession limit of two daily bag limits. Under the system, the bag limit is reached when addition of points for the last duck taken to the sum of points for birds already taken makes the sum reach or exceed 100 total points.

Assigned values will be 90 points each for mallard hens, wood ducks, redheads, canvasbacks, hooded mergansers and New Mexican ducks 20 points each for mallard drakes, mottled ducks, pintail hens and ring-necked ducks, and 10 points each for all other ducks and mergansers.

The point values make it possible for a hunter who is able to identify ducks and is selective in his shooting to get a bonus. He could take as many as 10 of the 10-point birds or as many as five 20-point ducks.

On the other hand, the system gives the hunter who is not so good at identifying ducks an advantage also. If he makes a mistake and kills a high-point duck, he fills his bag and has to quit hunting sooner, rather than commit a violation and become subject to prosecution as he might under another bag limit system.

The Rio Grande Valley south of Albuquerque to the Texas State line, and the Pecos River Valley from Fort Sumner south to the Texas State line, normally offer the best hunting. A change in regulations this year opens the entire La Joya State Game Refuge, north of Socorro, to hunting each day of the season from sunrise to 12 noon.

The season is expected to be the best that has been enjoyed in New Mexico in a number of years.

Postal station open in Cruces

VA will expand artificial kidney use for veterans

Use of "artificial kidneys" for the home-care of veterans with chronic, long-term, kidney disease will be expanded widely during the next two years, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said this week.

Hospital care for veterans who need regular use of an "artificial kidney" is available at the present time at 35 VA hospitals, and some units for home use also have been provided.

The VA administrator said he has been advised by VA Chief Medical Director Dr. Marc J. Musser that home care for suitable chronic patients will be much more convenient for the patients and less than half as expensive as hospital-based care of this type, after the initial expense of setting up the necessary training facilities for patients and attendants has been accomplished.

About six weeks of training is required for the patient and one attendant — usually his wife — in the use of the home dialysis equipment.

Home dialysis training activities will begin soon, Mr. Johnson said, at 10 of the 35 hospital-based "artificial kidney" centers, and 15 more VA hospital "artificial kidney" centers will initiate training programs in Fiscal Year 1972.

Long range plans call for training units at each of the VA hospitals currently operating artificial kidney centers, called "Hemodialysis Centers," and at all such centers that may be established in the future.

VA's hospital-based hemodialysis centers now serve approximately 1,000 patients with severe chronic kidney disease who otherwise would die within weeks or months. Patients must come to the hospital two or three times each week to have their blood cleansed of impurities, which under normal conditions are removed through their kidneys.

It is estimated that at least half of these patients will be suitable for home care, thus drastically reducing the required number of hospital visits.

The first 10 home dialysis training units, located on the basis of population density of eligible veterans, are being established in New York (Manhattan VA Hospital), Chicago (Hines VAH), Los Angeles, Boston, St. Louis, Miami, Oklahoma City, Pittsburgh, Denver and Nashville.

Additional facilities planned for FY 1972 will be located at VA hospitals in Albany and the Bronx, New York; West Haven, Conn.; Durham, N.C.; San Juan, Washington, D.C.; Albuquerque; Houston; New Orleans; Cleveland; Indianapolis; Iowa City; Minneapolis; Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Pollution talk wins Chaparral speech trophy by Henry J. Leinbach Jr. An outstanding speech on "Pollution" gave Arturo Narvaez (LG-EM) the speech trophy of the day during Tuesday's Chaparral Toastmasters meeting.

Marvin Brothton (ID-SE) was awarded the traveling topics trophy for a speech on congressional candidate J.R. Provencio.

At next week's meeting, Oct. 27, Silas Garcia (NR-DR), John Goulding (NR-A), Club President Alberto D. Gonzalez (ID-SP) and William W. Steele (ID-SP) will be the featured speakers.

Henry J. Leinbach Jr. (Calibration Lab), club administrative vice president, will be the toastmaster. Education Vice President Charles E. Feind (ID-SP) will distribute topics. Lt. Governor Vicente Fresquez (TE-MA) is to be the chief evaluator.

Two doctors promoted to major rank

Two White Sands Missile Range medical officers were recently promoted to the rank of major in a special ceremony, with Major General E.H. deSaussure, commanding general of WSMR, presiding.

Major James E. Mantooth, chief of Pediatrics, and Major Theodore R. McNitt, head of Internal Medicine, were promoted from captain. Both are assigned to the staff of McAfee Army Hospital at WSMR.

MAJ Mantooth, recently assigned to WSMR, has been on active duty with the Army Medical Corps for one year. He holds degrees in chemical engineering and medicine from the University of Oklahoma. Born in Pauls Valley, Okla., MAJ Mantooth is married and has one son.

MAJ McNitt has been on active duty for five years. He came to WSMR last July. From Grand Rapids, Mich., he received his degree in medicine from the University of Michigan.

MAJ McNitt is a member of the American College of Physicians and has special interests in photography and woodworking. He is married and has two children. The family resides on post at 208 Tooele.

Did you know?

New Mexico hunts more species of quail than any other state. There are four species of quail that are hunted: scaled, Gambles, bobwhite and Mearns. Scaled are birds of mesa lands, bobwhite on the eastern plains, Gambles in the river valleys and Mearns in the southern mountains.

Red Cross hikes services to servicemen, veterans

American Red Cross services to members of the armed forces and their families and to veterans and their dependents have continued to mount in the last year and a half, to the highest level since World War II.

The large volume in which those services were provided was due mainly to the continued fighting in Vietnam — the large number of men in uniform stationed in Southeast Asia and the increasing number of those returning to civilian life as veterans.

More than 136,000 volunteers and nearly 6,500 career staff workers provide services to members of the armed forces, veterans, and their families in local Red Cross chapters and at military installations and medical facilities in the United States and in 30 other countries where U.S. troops are stationed. ARC services to the armed forces and veterans fall into five categories:

Service at Military Installation (SMI) is given by Red Cross field directors assigned to military stations around the world. They include counseling and other help to servicemen with personal and family problems, help with communications and with reporting on family situations upon request of the military to help improve servicemen's morale, and emergency financial assistance. Field directors also coordinate Red Cross volunteer activities at their installations.

Service in Military and Veterans Hospitals (SMVH). In military medical facilities, services include social welfare help like that provided at military installations, coordination of volunteer activities, and a program of recreation for patients as well. In Veterans Administration hospitals and other VA facilities, Red Cross volunteers assist the staff in their care and treatment of patients.

At military installations and medical facilities, 2,500 Red Cross staff members, 35 percent of them overseas, assisted members of the armed forces worldwide at a monthly average of 121,000 persons in the fiscal year 1968-69. Each month field offices and chapters handled nearly 72,000 emergency messages about the welfare of servicemen and their families.

Service to Military Families (SMF) is the channel of service in Red Cross chapters in this country between the family at home and the serviceman far away.

Assistance to servicemen,

Uniform change set for Nov. 2

Effective Monday, Nov. 2, all WSMR Army personnel will change over to the Army Green, shade 44 (AG-44) winter uniform.

The AG44 winter uniform introduced in 1958, replacing the Eisenhower-style uniform, is the prescribed general duty and after-duty uniform. According to AR 670-5, the Army green uniform can be worn on duty, off duty, during travel, as prescribed by local commanders, and at formal social functions when worn with a white shirt and a black bow tie.

The lightweight tropical weave Army Green, shade 344 (AG344) uniform may also be worn on an optional basis and is authorized for wear the year-round.

One of the most successful and beneficial 4-H activities is junior leadership development. This program is for the older teen member and some 150,000 teen volunteers serve in a 4-H leadership capacity.

Defenses are tough in the National Football League, but apparently not all that tough. There hasn't been a scoreless tie in the league in 27 years... Starting Monday, October 26, towels will not be an item of issue at the Bell Gymnasium... Jackie Ickx of Belgium and Clay Regazzoni of Switzerland will drive 12-cylinder Ferraris in Sunday's Grand Prix of Mexico. This is the final event for world formula one championship. The Ferrari stable also announced its team for next season will be made up of Mario Andretti, Ickx, Regazzoni, Ignazio Giunti and Arturo Merzario.

In case you're wondering what the construction is all about at the intersection of Rock Island Ave. and Headquarters Av., the Athletic Department is building an official softball field. The new field will have an electric scoreboard similar to the one at Goddard Field.

Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets will be out of action for six weeks with his broken right wrist in a cast. Earlier reports indicated that Namath would be sidelined for only two weeks. The injury was received in the closing moments of Sunday's 29 to 22 loss to the Baltimore Colts.

A Sports Advisory Council meeting will be held November 5 at 1:30 p.m. at the Bell Gymnasium. All Advisory Council members and/or their alternates should attend.

One time world welterweight champion Ted Kid Lewis died Tuesday in London at the age of 76. He started his career as a bantamweight in 1910 and by the end of his career in 1929 he was battling light heavyweights and heavyweights... And finally, a member of the Texas Tech athletic staff, Dale Evans, takes a lot of ribbing because he has the same name as Roy Rogers' wife. Evans says in college he was given the nickname "Trigger."

SNOW LAKE TROUT CATCH - Major Jerry M. Johnston, executive officer of McAfee Army Hospital at WSMR, displays string of Rainbow trout which he caught at Snow Lake, in the Gila Mountains approximately 215 miles from WSMR. The trout averaged one and a half pounds each. Rare Gila trout get survival chance

The Gila trout, a New Mexico native on the verge of extinction, will be given a new lease on life Nov. 4.

Fisheries experts from the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish and the Forest Service's Southwestern Region will trap about 100 of the estimated 3,000-4,000 trout in Main Diamond Creek of the Black Range Primitive Area, Gila National Forest, and move them to McKnight Canyon, some 20 miles south and outside the Primitive Area.

The move will cap five years of research and planning. Much of the research was carried out by fisheries biologist Douglas B. Jester while he was at New Mexico State University. He sought and found new waters that would support the Gila trout, one of 20 American fish on the rare and endangered list.

Until 1900, the Gila trout was common throughout the Gila River drainage. Its decline and current endangered status is attributed in part to competition and hybridization with other species of trout introduced over a period of many years.

Gila trout exist today only where other trout have not been stocked and where a natural barrier has prevented immigration of other trout into the occupied stream section.

McKnight Creek recently was treated with rotenone to eliminate other fish. It will be closed to fishing. A fish barrier also was built below the planting area to prevent unwanted fish from returning.

Other streams in the Gila National Forest are considered suitable for re-introduction of the Gila trout, and the results obtained in McKnight Creek will decide whether further transplants will be carried out.

The Diamond Creek Gilas will be carried by horses to the edge of the primitive area November 4 and then whisked by helicopter 20 miles in 20 minutes to McKnight Creek. The fisheries experts have concluded that the move must be completed in about one hour to minimize danger to the fish.

Success of the project will mean renewed opportunities for anglers to pursue one of New Mexico's true natives.

Undefeated Rebels down Vikings 12-0

JUNIOR LEAGUE STANDINGS

TEAM	WON	LOST
Rebels	3	0
Vikings	0	2

The Rebels remained undefeated in Junior League football action by downing the Vikings, 12 to 0, in a tightly fought contest.

In the first quarter, Rebel Tony Mitchell ran 45 yards to the Viking three-yard line and scored two plays later. With one minute remaining in the second half, Tony Mitchell threw a 42-yard pass to Bill Taylor who ran in for the second Rebel score.

The Vikings did manage to cross the goal line in the third quarter; however, the score was called back because of an off-sides penalty.

Razorbacks get Pee Wee league lead

PEE WEE LEAGUE STANDINGS

TEAM	W	L	TIED
Razorbacks	3	1	1
Vikings	2	1	0
Bull Dogs	1	2	1
Chiefs	1	3	0

The Razorbacks downed the Chiefs 24 to 8, and by doing so captured first place in the Pee Wee Football League.

David Ferrick of the Razorbacks scored two touchdowns—one on a 30-yard tailback sweep and the other on a double reverse.

Jeffery Burkhardt, also of the Razorbacks, scored on a 50-yard kick-off return.

David Ferrick, Jeffery Burkhardt and Mitchell Heredia were outstanding players for the Razorbacks. The three will be captains for next week's game.

The Chiefs' Mike Turner ran over 80 yards for their lone touchdown. This was the longest run of the season. Kenneth Gardner played an excellent defensive game.

A hard fought contest between the Vikings and the Bull Dogs ended in a draw, zero to zero.

Tomé Cruz of the Bull Dogs played an outstanding offensive game, picking up 55 yards and two first downs. For the Vikings, defensive standouts were Gary Gardner, Richard Ham and Steve Matier.

Defensively, the Bull Dogs were outstanding in their overall play. On two separate occasions they held the Vikings on their 20-yard line.

Entrants sought for small sport teams on post

The WSMR Sports Department, under the direction of Lee Witsman and Vic Grant, is encouraging participation by the local WSMR talent in small sports.

The Sports Department is attempting to establish teams in four-wall handball, squash rackets and badminton.

Although courts are not available at White Sands at the present time, these sporting facilities are available at Ft. Bliss.

If enough interest is shown, a tournament will be held here at White Sands and a team from each of these sports will be sent to Ft. Bliss for Five Star Competition on Nov. 21.

If you are interested in any of these sports (four-wall handball, squash rackets or badminton), contact Vic Grant in the Sports Office of Bell Gymnasium.

Western New Mexico University in Silver City has a fall enrollment of 1,441 students, three more than the number registered for the same period last year.

Dean Jim Smith said 148 are graduate students and 1,293 are undergraduates.

White Sands Handicap set Sunday at Sunland

This Sunday, October 25, Sunland Park Race Track will host its annual White Sands Handicap for three-year-olds and upward.

Colonel Robert T. Townsend, deputy director of the Army Test and Evaluation Command, WSMR, will present a flowered wreath to the winning horse of the race.

Ragtime Chick, a double winner so far this season at Sunland Park, was handed the high weight of 125 pounds for Sunday's renewal of the White Sands Handicap.

The annual sprint for thoroughbreds and quarter horses at 870 yards carries a purse of $2,500.

Eight horses were nominated for the race. Here are their weights prepared by quarter horse secretary Harry Henson: Cherry Lake, 122; Missile Pit, 121; Turf's Best, 121; Copper Khal, 116; Clovis Rocket, 116; Breadstick, 113 and Fast Gas, 117.

Ragtime Chick, owned by Tom Neff of Colorado City, Texas, turned in a smashing victory last weekend when he unleashed his typical stretch run to beat a top field which included two of the White Sands nominees - Cherry Lake and Missile Pit.

Ragtime Chick won going away by two lengths under the high weight of 124 pounds. Cherry Lake, winner of the $5,000 added Governor's Speed Handicap at Albuquerque weakened in the stretch and finished fourth. Missile Pit, the champion sprinter who carries the silks of Vera Lewis, got off to a slow start but rallied after the turn for home and finished third.

Last season at Sunland Park, Missile Pit established a world 870 yard mark of 44.3 seconds. The record still stands.

Plenty of attention figures to center on Fast Gas, one of the top thoroughbreds on the grounds. Owned by William Burns of Alamogordo, Fast Gas will be making his first try at the 870 yard distance. Earlier this season, he easily annexed the Mr. Vale Handicap of six furlongs and boosted his 1970 winnings over the 20 grand level.

Pistols need one victory to clinch football title

As of this writing the Pistols stand one game away from winning the WSMR Flag Football Championship. All the Pistols need to cap the championship is a win over the third place Pillrollers. The last time the Pistols met the Pillrollers they blanked them 14 to 0.

In the past week's action the Pistol's offense poured it on the opposition by scoring 70 points in two games.

The Pistols, by downing the Pillrollers last Wednesday night, have won the 1970 WSMR Intramural Flag Football Championship.

Although there are still a few games remaining in the flag football season, it would be mathematically impossible for any other team to match the Pistols' record of 12 wins and zero defeats. The Pistols are now eligible to go forward against Fourth Army competition.

Headquarters and Headquarters Company was forced to play catch-up ball in their 32-18 loss to the mighty MPs. The Pistols scored a fast six points when quarterback Harold Roach hit his favorite long receiver Don Atkins with a 45 yard TD pass. Later in the same quarter the Roach-Atkins combination again clicked, this time for an 11 yard TD.

Where the Pistols' offense left off the defense picked up. Glen Brown, Pistols defensive back, picked off a HCC pass and ran 15 yards for a score.

Quarterback Gregory White of HCC put on his own show, but it just wasn't the main act. White threw a TD pass to his favorite end Rudy Jackson and scored another TD himself on a beautiful 99 yard run, but when the performance was over the Pistols got all the applause, 32 to 18.

ERDA managed to hold the Pistols scoreless in the first quarter of their meet but then forgot what they did as the Pistols scored 39 points in the next three quarters.

Pistols quarterback Harold Roach threw a TD pass to almost everyone on the team in their 38 to 0 romp over ERDA. Roach threw two TD passes to Zack Robinson, one to Rex Bauer, Glen Brown and Chuck Souther. Then to end the game on a winning note, Rex Bauer of the Pistols threw a TD pass to - you guessed it - Harold Roach.

Black Range best for pigeon hunters

The bandtailed pigeon season the first weekend showed spotty results.

Best area in the southwestern part of New Mexico was the Black Range; 36 hunters were checked in the south end of the Black Range with 96 pigeons.

Other areas reported hunting slow, with pigeons widely scattered. The cold, rainy weather this past week drove many pigeons south into Mexico.

The first part of the bow season for deer and bear is going slowly. Not many hunters afield. Warm sunny weather should improve bow hunting by next weekend.

Bass and catfish are both hitting and biting well in Elephant Butte. Best for bass, plastic worms and live water-dogs. Catfish are being taken on cutbait and worms. A few white bass are showing up, usually taken with small minnows.

Caballo Lake is very low but catfish are being taken on cutbait with trotlines. Bill Evans and Bear Canyon Lakes are slow but will be stocked soon. Lake Roberts is steadily improving. Fishing is good with trolled spinners.

The Upper Gila on the West Fork and Middle Fork is very good on flies and spinners. The lower Gila below the forks is fair on good sized channel cats on cutbait and worms.

Ducks this year are being hunted on a point system to protect certain species from over hunting. This system is fully explained in a booklet available at all Game and Fish offices.

Honorary awards are high-level awards, all but one requiring approval at higher command levels. They range from a locally approved Certificate of Achievement to a Presidential Citation. The seven Honorary awards at WSMR during fiscal 1970 were Certificates of Achievement.

In terms of overall recognition during the fiscal year 1970, Wage Grade (WG) employees compared very favorably with General Schedule (GS) employees

Recognition of employees served by the Civilian Personnel Division at WSMR during fiscal year 1970 was nearly double that of fiscal 1969. Awards were presented to 628 employees, or 14.8 percent of average strength.

Types of awards were as follows:

TYPE	No.	Pct.
Honorary	7	1.1
Outstanding Rating	96	14.8
Qual. Step Inc. or Sust. Sup. Perf.	476	73.2
Spec. Act or Service	71	10.9

These figures show the number of awards (650) as opposed to the number of employees involved (628). The 71 Special Act or Service awards went to 98 employees (multiple employees were named on some of the awards), but 49 employees received combinations of awards (for example, an Outstanding Rating plus a Quality Step Increase or Sustained Superior Performance award given at the same time).

The percentage of Sustained Superior Performance and Quality Step Increase awards granted in the future is expected to drop off, since the time interval for such awards to an individual employee has recently been extended to 30 months. Supervisors are being encouraged to consider other types of awards for deserving employees.

The word "deserving" frequently arouses bitterness or resentment among employees who have not received recognition. They frequently feel that their performance is just as superior or outstanding as those receiving recognition. In some cases, this could be true.

However, so many factors and variables are involved in recognizing performance that it is almost impossible for an employee to evaluate an individual case. Factors involve such things as quantity and quality of work produced, attitude toward the job, attitude toward other persons, amount of supervision required, leave usage, ingenuity, etc.

Variables involve such things as whether a supervisor is tough or lenient, whether the job is a challenge or not, and many others.

If you do your best, and you yourself are satisfied that you are doing your best, any recognition or award that may come your way is "frosting on the cake."

"There is no goal to which this Nation is more dedicated, and to which I am more dedicated than to build a new structure of peace in the world where every Nation, including North Vietnam as well as the South Vietnamese, can be free and independent with no fear of foreign aggression or foreign domination." - President Nixon, Oct. 7, 1970.

of the 5th Artillery Group, consisting of six U. S. and four Korean battalions.

Subsequent assignments took GEN Chesarek to Washington, D. C., Cambridge, Mass., Orleans, France Verona, Italy Verdun, France, and back to Washington. He served as comptroller of the Army from 1966 to 1967, and as assistant vice chief of staff from 1967 to 1969. As assistant vice chief of staff, GEN Chesarek served as senior U. S. Army representative to the United Nations Military Staff Committee from July 1968 to March 1969.

He was promoted to full general in March 1969 upon being named commanding general of AMC. He succeeded General Frank S. Besson Jr., and was only the second commanding general of the command, GEN Besson, who became chairman of the new Joint Logistics Review Board in 1969, had served as commanding general of AMC since it was established in 1963.

businesses get a fair share of government contracting at White Sands, and we (Purchasing and Contracting Division) do our best to see to this." He added that about 25 to 30 percent of contracts let by the range involve small businesses.

Small business firms, defined generally as those being independently owned and operated and not dominant in the field of operation in which they are bidding on government contracts, are invited to contact Mr. Burns' office in person or by telephone to discuss business opportunities at the range.

The Small Business and Economic Utilization Office is located in Building 1830 at White Sands Missile Range. Telephone numbers are area code 915, 678-1807 or 678-1401.

Citizenship class to open in Cruces

An adult citizenship class sponsored by the Las Cruces Public Schools' Adult Basic Education Program will begin Nov. 5 at Bradley Elementary School, Las Cruces.

The class is open at no charge to any alien in the area who wishes to prepare to meet the basic requirements for the citizenship examination.

Registration will be during the first class meeting, 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., Nov. 5. The class will meet each Thursday thereafter for the remainder of the school year.

Enrollees should have a basic knowledge of English, said Ralph Dominguez, Adult Basic Education coordinator.

Alfred Diaz, Bradley Elementary School, will teach the class.

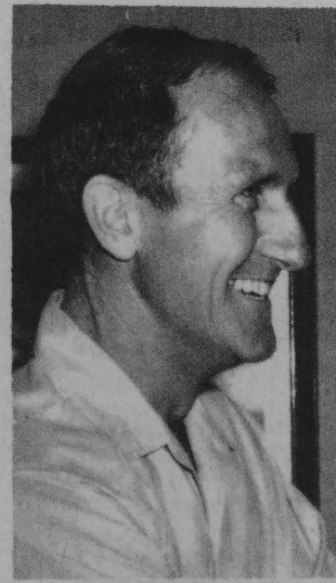

Systems chief addresses local students Monday

James L. McNulty, chief of Management Science and Data Systems Office at White Sands Missile Range, was guest speaker Monday night at a meeting of the Accounting Students Association of New Mexico State University.

A business administration graduate from Texas A&M University, Mr. McNulty also holds a B. A. degree in history and political science from the University of Maryland and a master's degree in comptrollership from Syracuse University. He had had broad experience in the business field in industry and government service and has served in the states and overseas.

Mr. McNulty came to the national missile range a little more than a year ago from duty in Korea. There, he served with Headquarters, Eighth U. S. Army, as chief of Program and Budget Division. Previous assignments with the Army included chief of Stock Fund Accounting, Finance and Accounting Office; chief, Cost Accounting Branch, Program and Korean Budget Division, and chief, Work Management and Analysis.

A native of Galveston, Texas, Mr. McNulty and his wife, Linda, live at 2100 Desert Drive in Las Cruces.

Art Hope wins speaker award

Art Hope (TE-MI) was best speaker at this week's WSMR Toastmasters Club meeting. Zeke Montas (NR-PD) was named best evaluator.

Scheduled speakers for next Wednesday's meeting will be Ruben Rede (TE-EI), Quinnie Flint, (NR-C), Al Allen (TE-EI) and Bill Park (NR-C).

The addict becomes a drag on society, educator says

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth article in a series on drug abuse, prepared by the staff of the Detroit News and reprinted through services of the American Forces Press Service.)

"If it were practicable by legal or other means to limit the individual intake of any drug to a quantity less than that which distorts perception or otherwise incapacitates, no drug would be abused," said Dr. Maurice H. Seevers, chairman of the University of Michigan's department of pharmacology.

Writing in the "Michigan Quarterly Review," he argues: "No one becomes an alcoholic on two martinis a day; no one becomes addicted to barbiturates on one sleeping pill a day, or to heroin or morphine on one therapeutic dose a day; no one even becomes a significant social hazard on an occasional marijuana cigarette.

"Nor is one likely to develop cancer of the lung from smoking cigarettes if he does not inhale, nor die from overeating on 2,500 calories a day.

"Society has never found a formula for protecting individuals from themselves, nor for protecting society from the individual who has neither the interest in, nor the capability for, limiting his intake of drugs to nontoxic quantities."

Dr. Seevers then notes that drug laws are passed with two objectives:

* To protect the majority against violence resulting from the minority's excessive use.

* To prevent drug-induced indolence, incompetence, unemployment, and placing on the majority the burden of an irresponsible, unproductive and dependent minority.

"When drugs become the major goal, the abuser becomes a drag on society," he adds.

The most widely quoted statement on what marijuana does to the individual was put together by four doctors in the World Health Organization Bulletin:

"Among the more prominent subjective effects of Cannabis, for which it is taken occasionally, periodically or chronically, are:

"Hilarity, often without apparent motivation; carelessness; loquacious euphoria, with increased sociability as a result; distortion of sensation and perception, especially of space and time, with the latter reinforcing psychic dependence and being valued under special circumstances; impairment of judgment and memory, distortion of emotional responsiveness; irritability and confusion.

"Other effects which appear especially after repeated administration and as more experience is acquired by the user include lowering of the sensory threshold, especially for the optical and acoustical stimuli, thereby resulting in an intensified appreciation of works of arts, paintings and music; hallucinations, illusions and delusions that predispose to anti-social behavior; anxiety and aggressiveness as a possible result of the various intellectual and sensory derangements; and sleep disturbances."

The statement notes various physical conditions which can result from very heavy use, such as chronic Bronchitis, and then gets down to what the medical world considers a key problem:

"For the individual, harm resulting from abuse of Cannabis may include inertia, lethargy, self-neglect, feeling of increased capacity with corresponding failure, and precipitation of psychotic episodes."

Although medical experts observe that marijuana can trigger mentally unstable people, they go on to say that "there is no unequivocal evidence that lasting mental changes are produced."

In a statement before a subcommittee of Congress a year ago, then U. S. Commissioner of Narcotics Henry L. Cioriano testified that the number of new addicts under 21 years old had increased from 13.9 to 21.2 percent between 1963 and 1967.

"Also, preliminary reports show that the largest increases in youthful addiction are in areas other than the traditional addiction centers," he said.

"Thus, as I predicted, we are beginning to register the ultimate result of the increase in youthful experimentation with marijuana."

R.W. Bell named USAF Academy liaison officer

Major Robert W. Bell, 2000 Chilton Dr., Las Cruces, is the newly appointed liaison officer for the United States Air Force Academy for the Las Cruces-Alamogordo area.

Major Bell will provide information concerning the Academy to students and counselors in area high and junior high schools. His local area includes White Sands Missile Range, Las Cruces, Alamogordo, Cloudcroft, Ruidoso, Hondo, Capitan, Carrizozo and Tularosa.

The new liaison officer will visit the various schools and advise students on how to prepare for admission to the Academy and assist highly qualified students in applying, the year prior to their desired admission, for nomination to the Academy.

Students and parents interested in obtaining information about the Air Force Academy may contact Major Bell by letter or telephone at his home in Las Cruces.

During World War II, Major Bell served as a paratrooper in the 17th and 82nd Airborne Divisions. Following the war, he entered New Mexico State University and was graduated with a major in psychology. At the time of graduation, he received a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve. Later, he served more than two years active duty with the Armed Forces Special Weapons Command.

Receiving the good news were: Michael Bryan promoted to Fire Control Technician Second Class (E-5); Ken Corona to Yeoman Third Class (E-4); Robert Lipiro to Interior Communications Technician Third Class (E-4); Roger O'Brien to Electricians Mate First Class (E-6); Robert Steinhaus to Gunners Mate (Missile) Second Class (E-5).

John Cramer to Electronics Technician (Radar) Second Class (E-5); Daniel Romeo to Fire Control Technician (Missile) Second Class (E-5); Robert Jensen to Gunners Mate (Missile) Third Class (E-4) and Tommy Tomlin to Journalist Third Class (E-4).

MAJ ROBERT W. BELL

COIN PRESENTATION - White Sands Missile Range Sterling Silver Commemorative Coin Serial No. 002 is presented to Lieutenant General (ret) Arthur G. Trudeau, director of the American Ordnance Association, in Washington, D.C., by Lieutenant Colonel (ret) F.J. Frank, president, Rio Grande Chapter, AOA, for display at national headquarters as a memento of WSMR's 25th Anniversary. The medal commemorates the three major events of 1945 at WSMR - the activation of the Range on July 9, the detonation of the world's first atomic device at Trinity Site on July 16 and the launching of the first test rocket (Tiny Tim) on Sept. 26. Bronze and silver coin medals are on sale at most banks in the Las Cruces area and at the Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce.

NOMTF sailors get word on promotions

Ten sailors assigned to the U. S. Naval Ordnance Missile Test Facility at White Sands Missile Range received word this week from the Naval Examination Center at Great Lakes, Ill. that they would be promoted in the near future.

The ten members of the Desert Navy's crew were among those who took the Navy-wide competitive examination for promotion in August of this year.

Every six-months the Navy gives a competitive examination for advancement to all personnel eligible to take the test. According to the number of slots open in each career field, those with the highest test scores are then promoted.

Most of those who were promoted will be able to sew on their new rating badges on Nov. 1. The others will be advanced in December, January and February.

Receiving the good news were: Michael Bryan promoted to Fire Control Technician Second Class (E-5); Ken Corona to Yeoman Third Class (E-4); Robert Lipiro to Interior Communications Technician Third Class (E-4); Roger O'Brien to Electricians Mate First Class (E-6); Robert Steinhaus to Gunners Mate (Missile) Second Class (E-5).

John Cramer to Electronics Technician (Radar) Second Class (E-5); Daniel Romeo to Fire Control Technician (Missile) Second Class (E-5); Robert Jensen to Gunners Mate (Missile) Third Class (E-4) and Tommy Tomlin to Journalist Third Class (E-4).

Girl Scout news

220 Girl Scouts sign up on post

Fall registration shows there are 220 registered Girl Scouts on the post. A total of 38 mothers have signed up to work as volunteers helping the adult leaders.

Junior Girl Scouts recently distributed flyers for the Post Nursery, and plan to begin soon on a project to restore used toys for the children who use the nursery.

Girl Scout calendars will go on sale next week. Calendars will be sold for 50 cents each, and the troop will keep 20 cents for each calendar sold.

A special vote of thanks goes to Sergeant David Beasley of the Army Air Operations Directorate, who sawed up the fallen trees at the Girl Scout Camp. SGT Beasley used his own equipment and did the work on his own time.

The camp was cleaned up recently by members of the four Junior troops of WSMR.

The camp has been in use every week-end during the month of October. It has been used by Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts from Las Cruces, El Paso and WSMR, as well as for a training session for Girl Scout leaders. Following is the schedule for October for the camp:

- Oct. 3 - Las Cruces Boy Scouts.
- Oct. 7 - Training, Girl Scout leaders.
- Oct. 10 - WSMR Boy Scouts.
- Oct. 16-17 - WSMR Junior Girl Scout Troop 316 (overnight).
- Oct. 22 - WSMR Junior Girl Scout Troop 387 (overnight).
- Oct. 23 - WSMR Junior Girl Scout Troop 438 (overnight).
- Oct. 24 - El Paso Girl Scouts (overnight).
- Oct. 30 - WSMR Junior Girl Scout Troops 400 and 449, cook-out.

Children love to go to camp in the summer. Good vacation for them. Also good for their parents.

RE-ELECT GLADYS HANSEN COUNTY CLERK

COUNTY PERSONALITIES

Gladys Hansen, Dona Ana County Clerk in Las Cruces, New Mexico, is serving her first term as clerk of one of the largest counties in her state. She is no newcomer to public service or to business, however. A resident of Dona Ana County since 1941, Mrs. Hansen had 18 years of experience in local business and management in Las Cruces and has served as City Clerk for the city of Las Cruces under two administrations before taking on the responsibility of County Clerk of Dona Ana County.

Active throughout her state of New Mexico, Gladys Hansen is an example of the dedication our nation's county clerks bring to their important offices and an example of the dynamic and positive contributions being made by women in public service today.

The Dynamic Woman from Dona Ana

An active realtor in Las Cruces, the county seat, Mrs. Hansen is past President of the Las Cruces Board of Realtors, and Vice President of the Southwest District of Realtors' Association of New Mexico. In 1968, the Las Cruces Board of Realtors presented her the "Realtor of the Year" Award.

A long-time friend of Byron Weston, Gladys Hansen is now serving her first term as County Clerk in the second largest county in the State of New Mexico. Last year she was elected First Vice President of the New Mexico Association of Counties. In May of this year, at Ruidoso Downs, Gladys Hansen was elected President of that organization.

In August of 1969, this "quiet dynamo" was appointed by Secretary of State Ernestine D. Evans to serve as one of two County Clerks on the Advisory Board for the implementation of Automated Voter Records Systems in New Mexico. Mrs. Hansen is particularly interested in helping her state become a leader in election procedures. She was instrumental in getting a completely revised election code for New Mexico passed by the Legislature in 1969.

In addition to attending national and regional meetings of county officials, Gladys Hansen somehow finds time to devote her service to a variety of civic responsibilities. She is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and a member of Toastmistress Clubs of America; she's a former board member and Secretary of the United Fund Campaign, a charter board member of the Las Cruces Boys' Club, and a member of the board for the Heart Fund. She is also a charter member of the "Order of the Rose."

The "Order of the Rose" deserves some explanation. At the Thirty-third Annual Convention of the New Mexico Association of Counties, in Santa Fe, a rather unique idea to promote attendance at the 1969 NACO Convention in Portland was conceived by Mrs. Virginia Yearley of Otero County. Gene Bartley, Sales Manager, and Norm Fielding of Byron Weston Company helped promote her idea. Every New Mexico official who had attended either a national or a regional meeting sponsored by NACO had a rose attached to his badge when registering. This caused queries and awakened the interest of other officials. Because of her dynamic participation regionally and nationally, Mrs. Gladys Hansen just naturally became a charter member of the "Order of the Rose," and attends the parties given by Byron Weston Co. to this group.

Army Aviation activities

Progress on the construction at Condron AAF is continuing. The runway to be paved is in the final stage of grading and it should not be long now until they start pouring oil.

CW2 Dorcey Wingo successfully completed his off-duty FAA Fixed-Wing Private Pilot course and immediately started another course leading to a commercial license.

MAJ Richard Urick recently made a trip to Muskogee, Okla., where he picked up one of the Directorate's airplanes that had received a new paint job. He is presently on leave in California.

Lloyd Williams was at the right place at the right time last week as far as an injured soldier was concerned. He was parked at Stallion airfield waiting on his passengers when a soldier was injured in an explosion. Williams quickly got him aboard the airplane and hurried to Condron AAF where he was met by a doctor who made the decision to further evacuate him to Beaumont General Hospital, El Paso, at which time Williams continued the flight on to Ft. Bliss.

Herm Greer was on another flight mission out of Stallion at the time and he managed to continue Williams' previous mission and no one was delayed.

The aviation element supporting last week's Pershing firings consisted of Clyde Wilson, SP5 John Bowen, John Fuller, Stanley Nash and Bill Libberton. Their TDY trip was extended a few days due to the one firing that had to be aborted.

Everybody close to aviation knows that PIREP stands for Pilot Report. Weather personnel receive PIREPs from the aircraft in the air nearby and it assists them in knowing what the actual weather is like under marginal conditions.

Not many people know what a POREP is. We do here at AAO. Last week during a period of bad weather the weather station was giving out information based on PIREPs that allowed aircraft to take off and try to accomplish their missions. When Gordon Potolichio (known to one and all as "Po") had to return to Holloman due to extremely bad weather nearby, the new and accurate information was subsequently called a POREP.

WSMR's junior officer has been promoted. Paul Petrakis had been the only warrant officer junior grade assigned to WSMR, but now he is a Chief Warrant. Congratulations.

Office renamed

WASHINGTON (AFPS) - The Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Civil Rights) has been named the Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Equal Opportunity).

The office is part of the staff of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Reserve Affairs).

The deputy assistant secretary for equal opportunity is Frank W. Render II.

TOPS TECOM - After a nine-year lapse, White Sands Missile Range has again won the annual Test and Evaluation Command Reenlistment Plaque for Group 1 Installations. Here Sergeant First Class Plese Toole Jr., WSMR career counselor, accepts congratulations and the plaque from Major General E. H. deSaussure, commanding general, during brief ceremonies this week. WSMR won the award in competition with Proving Grounds at Dugway, Utah; Yuma, Ariz., and Aberdeen, Md., by reenlisting 64 percent of all eligible personnel. The Range last won the award in 1961. SFC Toole, who took over the Range reenlistment program last May, was named Recruiter of the Month by the Jacksonville, Fla., Recruiting Main Station for February, March and April of 1968. (U. S. Point system planned

Motorists to face 17 new regulations

SANTA FE (AP) - The State Motor Vehicle Department put 17 new regulations into effect last week.

Their primary purpose is to clarify existing laws.

Another new regulation, a point system to establish standards for revocation of driver's licenses, will become effective Jan. 4, 1971.

Under the point system the license of a driver over 21 years old may be revoked if he accumulates 12 points during a one-year period or 18 points during a two-year period.

A driver under 21 will be allowed eight points during a one-year period and 12 points in a two-year period.

Major offenses, costing 12 points each, will be leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated or under drug influence, speed contest, and eluding or attempting to elude a police officer.

A reckless driving conviction will cost eight points.

Speeding 1-9 miles per hour over the limit will cost three points; 10-19 miles over the limit, six points; and 20 miles or more over the limit, six points.

Lesser point penalties are set for other more minor violations. Several of the regulations which went into effect deal with motorcycle operators.

One sets standards for approved protective headgear worn by motorcycle operators and passengers. This regulation will apply in conjunction with an existing rule requiring all riders under 18 years old to wear crash helmets.
